

For Your Consideration

At Maclellan, we strive to work with talented, passionate non-profit leaders, while stewarding our resources well. You are welcome to move forward in the questionnaire, but we recommend you read the following guidelines regarding our specific granting strategy and parameters for grantees.

- Who May Apply -

We only accept inquiries from certain types of organizations that are classified by the Internal Revenue Service as 501(c)(3) public charities, with a few exceptions. Individuals are not eligible for funding. Additionally, only individuals authorized by the central leadership of the organization may submit an inquiry on its behalf.

- Granting Strategy -

We fund a wide variety of projects worldwide, leveraging projects with a strategic scope and reach. Due to the diversity of projects funded and varying regional strategic focuses, we cannot share a comprehensive list.

However, the following funding requests do not fit into our current granting strategy:

- Capital campaigns
- Buildings
- Individual field workers
- Individual churches or schools
- Scholarships
- Projects outside of Chattanooga focused on a narrow geographic region without a broader impact
- Projects which are political in nature, including those requesting funds for lobbying

If your request falls into one of these categories, you should assume that it will not be a fit with our granting strategy.
